Form 990, Part III, Line 4a, Program Service Accomplishments:

LCL's educational efforts in 2022-23 reached every facet of Minnesota's legal profession, as we continued to support people in challenging times. Volunteers and staff made over 200 appearances including substantive programs, public service announcements, exhibit tables and law school orientations and classes. In 2022-23, LCL added new programs and program content based on current events and the needs of the profession. This included new programs on burnout, self-care in times of social change, and increased risk for mental health problems as LCL endeavored to inform and support the legal profession.

LCL programming was customized for audiences based on their type of work (public service, judicial, law students, etc.) and by practice or other focus areas such as employment law, business law, family law, criminal law, new lawyers, solo practitioners, and in-house counsel. LCL collaborated with a number of other entities including local and national bar associations as well as service providers to present a broader range of programming on topics such as mental health and addiction in the legal profession, stress management, suicide prevention, well-being, problem gambling, trauma awareness and resilience, implicit bias, and specific mental health and addiction issues. For some focused programs we surveyed participants in advance and provided survey results as part of the program. LCL CLE programs qualified for elimination of bias, ethics, or general CLE credit.

During law school exams, following major events and at other times, LCL provided stress management and other tools and resources via social media platforms, such as blog posts and articles. LCL continued to leverage remote opportunities while the requests for in-person appearances increased.

LCL hosts general support groups for legal professionals, facilitated by therapists. Additional support groups include family support, discipline and practice, ADHD support, parenting, and lawyers in transition.

LCL mailed an informational brochure to every attorney in Minnesota. New lawyers receive these at the admission ceremony and LCL distributes brochures to law students and judges as well.

LCL held a "Stepping Up for Well-Being" breakfast which brought together supporters and allies in a call to action.

The LCL board reviewed and updated the organization's strategic plan.

LCL meets all standards of the Minnesota Charities Review Council. This certification demonstrates that the organization meets accountability standards in the areas of public disclosure, governance, financial accounting, and fundraising. LCL is a Candid (formerly GuideStar) gold member.
